

Greenwoman Volume 2: George W. Carver (Paperback)

By Sandra Knauf

Greenwoman Publishing, LLC, 2011. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Greenwoman Magazine celebrates garden writing in all its forms: fiction, creative nonfiction, poetry, commentary, biography, art, and comics! Daring and fun, Greenwoman is for the hip gardener who loves digging into the world of art and environmental thought that underlies gardening. Volume 2 features: George Washington Carver: Grandfather of Sustainability -an amazingly wrought mini-biography of an American hero-the man who was so (so) much more than just the peanut guy. The Garden Club, the humorous tale of a typical non-gardener and his garden-mad neighbor (who happens to be nine years old). Naked Tomatoes - Alissa Johnson s delicately-told tale of the changing landscape of love. Rare Breed -Former New York Times food columnist Molly O Neill s portrait of a former Marlboro Man model who saves heritage breed turkeys in Kansas. Winter s Heart - Sex in the Garden columnist Elisabeth Kinsey explores the eroticism and cultivation of roses. PLUS: The Honey Challenge, Slow Ride, The Creature Feature, art, comics . . . and MORE.

READ ONLINE
[5.61 MB]

Reviews

This publication will be worth purchasing. This is for all those who statte there was not a worthy of reading through. I discovered this publication from my dad and i suggested this pdf to find out.

-- Macey Cummerata

This publication is worth getting. it absolutely was writtern very completely and useful. I am quickly could possibly get a pleasure of reading a written publication.

-- Ariane Rau