William Jay, of Argyle Chapel, Bath, Vol. 3 of 3: Comprising Matter Not Heretofore Presented to the American Public Mistakes concerning the number of the righteous. Wot ye not what the Scripture saith of Elias? how he maketh intercession to God against Israel; saying, Lord, they have killed thy prophets, and digged down thine altars; and I am left alone, and they seek my life. But what saith the answer of God unto him? I have reserved to myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed the knee to the image of Baal. - Romans xi. 2-4. Who can understand his errors? How numerous, how various, how opposite to each other, are the mistakes of mankind! The lives and the language of many seem to imply a fall persuasion, that there is very little evil in sin - that the difficulties of religion are by no means great - that it is an easy thing to be a Christian - that if there be a hell, few are wicked enough to be turned into it - and that the generality of our fellow-creatures are in a fair way for heaven. This persuasion is as false as it is fatal. Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, which leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, that leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it. It is possible, however, to fall into another extreme, and to draw an unwarrantable conclusion respecting the decline of religion, and...
