Excerpt: . . . as you know, always protested against the popular misconception of the artist, and I do not consider that his idea of his own importance in the social scheme is at all exaggerated--therefore I want to see him doing his full share in the regeneration of his country. But how can a man regenerate his country by painting pictures or carving statues protested the Plain Man. Something much more energetic than that will be demanded of us in the near future when we set about the task of building up our trade again and reorganising our resources. And do you not think that the help of the artist in this process of reconstruction will be worth having enquired the Critic. Cannot you see what a number of ways there are in which his capacities can be utilised I confess, I cannot, replied the Plain Man....
