Muleshoe Books, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Gary Power (illustrator). Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . FIFTH PLACE AMERICAN GEMS NOVEL CONTEST. Texas 1875, ten years after the Civil War has ended. Former Confederate states are still scarred with the ruins of burnt plantation houses, bitterness still fills the hearts of many and murderous intentions abound towards the agents of the federal government, the carpetbaggers and their Southern allies the scalawags. A young black man Abe Brown rides through Texas searching for his mother, separated from him during slavery, but he finds nothing but the end of a rope after being falsely accused of murder and horse theft. Abe escapes but decides to track down the man who drew his wanted poster Luke Sprague, a super-quick artist inspired by the grotesque caricatures of Harper's Weekly magazine. A broke Luke strikes a deal with Abe to help him to get to Washington D.C. where he has won a prize to draw a portrait of George Washington for the centenary silver dollar. But a straightforward journey becomes a peril-filled adventure. As they are pursued by bounty hunters and encounter seducers, robbers, fools, and agents of justice, whether...

Reviews

This is basically the finest publication i actually have go through till now. We have read and i also am confident that i am going to likely to read through again once more in the foreseeable future. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
