Excerpt from Contributions to Plant Physiology Application of Physiological Science - Just as physics, chemistry, climatology and biological morphology become applied in physiology, so does physiology become applied in many other lines of human activity. As with other sciences, there are, in general, two groups of applications that are possible. First, there is the general application of physiological knowledge and principle to the formation of what has been called a philosophy of the universe. This is perhaps its application as pure science, and for this application plant physiology is almost, if not quite, as valuable as is animal physiology. Such application is not usually called an application at all, not being primarily practical for the physical aspects of human life, in the sense of buttering bread. But there are still men who do not live by bread alone, and a commercial age has not yet proved that a general appreciation of the relations of the things about us may not be ultimately as valuable to the human world as are those things which money buys directly. It is in this direction of application that modern natural science claims at least an equality with philology, history and the other humanities.
