Excerpt: . . . by this self-possessed English boy, and was presently much taken by his ready answers to a few simple inquiries about artillery drill. Coffey left the room a full-blown sous-lieutenant. He joined the 21st Army Corps, fought in one or two skirmishes, was appointed A. D. C. to the General commanding the artillery of the corps, fought in more battles, and was promoted lieutenant. He was honourably mentioned in despatches and recommended for further advancement. On the conclusion of the war he returned home; and in view of the special circumstances of the case, and the distinction he had gained, he was permitted to return to the Academy. His reception by his comrades was magnificent, and the memory of his extraordinary feat will never die in the annals of the Shop. Monsieur E. Valentin, who had been instructor in French at the R. M. A. since 1860, resigned his appointment this...
