This sinus, he explained had existed for over two months. It was so small and so situated, however, that it had escaped my notice heretofore. It discharged a very small amount of clear serous fluid but no gonococci were found on microscopic examinations. On the 10th of May he was given 50,000,000 of polyvalent gonococcus vaccine, which gave rise to no reaction. Immediately, however, the sinus began to discharge thick yellowish pus containing intracellular gonococci in great numbers. For several days it continued to discharge gonococci in spite of thorough cleansing and successive treatments with tincture of iodine, bichloride of mercury, nitrate of silver and picric acid, while the urine remained quite clear and the shreds contained no gonococci. Polyvalent gonococcic vaccines are recognized to be of little or no service in acute cases, and from the foregoing, it would seem that in subacute cases,...
