Nikola Tesla, the inventor of the radio and one of the most brilliant electrical engineers the world has ever known, knew he was on to something huge with a phenomenon he witnessed in his New York City laboratory in the late 1800s. It was something of such enormous significance, he became obsessed with it, and spent the remainder of his life inventing, demonstrating, and devoting all of his talent to. According to many sources, Tesla actually started to exhibit pronounced symptoms of obsessive-compulsive disorder in the years following this amazing discovery. He apparently became obsessed with the number three; he often felt compelled to walk around a block three times before entering a building and demanded a stack of three folded cloth napkins beside his plate at every meal. 1 Something of eternal significance had been revealed to Nikola Tesla, but without knowing the Trinity of God and Gods word, the truth of his powerful discovery eluded him. According to many sources, the story of his discovery ended in him having to take a sledge hammer to his invention. Apparently,...
