Excerpt from The Burnt Million, Vol. 1 of 3 IN the old Court suburb, Kensington, there are still a few fine old houses standing back from the road, with gardens attached to them of considerable size, and adorned with noble trees, especially the cedar. Its layers of shade, though deadly to the turf beneath them, are welcome indeed to the Londoner during the summer heats. As he sits on his rocking chair, shut out from all the din and dust of the streets, and with only the muffled roar of the great city breaking on his ear like a distant sea - yet within reach of all that vol.
